Description

This mahogany, low Coaching Table is almost identical to another we had in stock.

When the 2 piece top is open, the X-frame legs are pushed to their full width and a locking bar to the underside of the top prevents it from folding. The action is standard to most coaching tables and it is easy to set up and fold.

The height is great for use as a coffee table and the ability to reduce its size makes it useful for storage or carrying. Circa 1900.

There is a slight difference in size to the two tables and the second can be seen here:

The tables are sold separately but talk to us if you would like the pair.
