The two heavy glass bottles of this travelling decanter set have silver screw on caps, hallmarked for London 1903.

The caps also have the maker's initials of GB and have a cork lining to make the bottles watertight. They sit in a leather hide travel case with a fish tail handle to the top and a singular tooled decoration line. These are a good pair of decanters that don't take up much space when packed.
Dated 1903.
