Description

These 5 double hooks are made of cast iron with turned beech pegs and strung together by riveted iron straps.

The end and middle hooks have ring fittings to hang and by their nature allows them to be used in a variety of positions. It also allows them to be bunched together to take up the minimum of space for packing. The iron hook fittings have simple decoration in their casting and are marked AK & Sons with No. 2 to the back. Archibald Kenrick & Sons of West Bromwich were founded in 1791 and have enjoyed a long history as good makers of metalware, recognised for their quality. Early 20th Century.
