Short Description

A Medicine Glass in red leather case.

The size of this Medicine Measure Glass is a little unusual being in between the larger and the minim sizes. The glass is engraved to measure a tablespoon, dessert spoon and a tea spoon. We have had a number of medicine measures in the past but never one that noted the dessert spoon size.

It is held in a case made from cross hatched, burgundy leather on a green and maroon card. The top of the case is tooled in gilt with a floral decoration surrounding the title Medicine Glass. Circa 1910.
